Parallel Multi-Column Article Layout

Section 1: Architecture

Modern web engines utilize dedicated raster threads and offscreen framebuffers to ensure consistent throughput. Segments are isolated into distinct column boundaries.

Section 2: Verification

Independent text extraction guarantees column integrity without cross-merging between horizontal neighbors. Edits on column two remain isolated and precise.